

Field Lane is an Investor in People.

Chief Executive Jeremy Lamb speaking at Field Lane's Manager's Conference

Field Lane recently received affirmation of its continued Investors in People (IIP) accreditation. The IIP assessor said that he was very impressed with all the staff he spoke with and how Field Lane's policies and procedures optimized staff development.

Established in 1993, IIP is regarded as the UK's leading people management standard and has helped thousands organisations of all sizes and sectors to improve business performance. This was the third consecutive accreditation for Field Lane since the initial assessment in 1998

Jeremy Lamb, Field Lane's Chief Executive welcomed the confirmation of Field Lane's Investors in People status, saying; "This reaccreditation has confirmed for us that the investment we make in our own staff as our main quality driver is recognized as effective and valuable. IIP gives our training and staff development a boost, - it is very pleasing".
